Teleflex Medical OEM Opens State-Of-The-Art Customer Solution Centre

Brings together world-class engineering talent and vast, integrated capabilities to accelerate catheter development and innovation

Teleflex Medical OEM (booth 532), a recognized global leader in diagnostic and interventional catheters, announces the opening of its Customer Solution Centre (CSC), in Limerick, Ireland. OEM has created a unique environment that enables higher levels of innovation and collaboration for the development of catheters. Working closely with customers, the CSC team will focus on user needs, design for manufacturability, reducing technical risk, cost control, and accelerating speed to market.

Research indicates that 60% of a product's cost is committed by the design phase. In order to contain these costs, the CSC expert team will utilize a structured, nine-step process that includes quick-turn concept development, design for manufacturability, and demonstrative prototypes as aids to clarifying catheter concepts. Unique to Teleflex Medical OEM is a proprietary database of catheter design elements and their contributions to a device's performance. Decisions on a new device's attributes can be data-driven and performance tested to eliminate guesswork and extended periods of trial and error.

The CSC is a best-in-class facility that is an epicenter for innovative catheter design. The multi-level facility was designed from the ground up to foster open communication and exchange of ideas with customers. Branching out from a central core are concept development rooms where solutions are brainstormed, an engineering area for transforming ideas into products, a video conferencing center to promote efficient communication, and well-equipped laboratories for 3-D printing, demonstrative prototype development, and device testing.
